

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR INTERNATIONAL TRADE THROUGH INTERNET

ABSTRACT

5

A method and system for international trade through the Internet is disclosed. The web site of the present invention is connected, and the buyer selects products he wants to buy and then selects specifications, such as shipping company, insurance company, and inspection company. An order form according to the selected products
10 and selected specification is produced. The buyer may send said order form to the trade server of the present invention. Then the trade server sends said order form to the relative supplier.